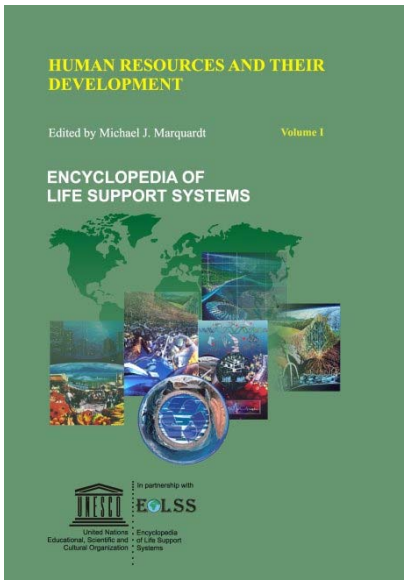
CONTENTS

HUMAN RESOURCES AND THEIR DEVELOPMENT



Human Resources and their Development - Volume 1
No. of Pages: 388
ISBN: 978-1-84826-056-6 (eBook)
ISBN: 978-1-84826-506-6 (Print Volume)

Human Resources and their Development - Volume 2
No. of Pages: 430
ISBN: 978-1-84826-057-3 (eBook)
ISBN: 978-1-84826-507-3 (Print Volume)

For more information of e-book and Print Volume(s) order, please click here

Or contact : eolssunesco@gmail.com

©Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems (EOLSS)

CONTENTS

VOLUME I

Human Resources and their Development 1
Michael J. Marquardt, George Washington University, USA
Viwe Mtshontshi, Institute for Partnerships between Education and Business, South Africa

1. Introduction - Humans the Invaluable, But Often-Neglected Resource
2. Evolving Importance for Human Resource Development
3. Origin and History - Learning Across the Ages
4. Today's Context for the Development of Human Resources
   - 4.1. Globalization and the Global Economy
   - 4.2. Computer Technology
   - 4.3. Radical Transformation of the World of Work
   - 4.4. Increased Power and Expectations of Citizens and Customers
   - 4.5. Emergence of Knowledge and Learning as a Country's Greatest Assets
   - 4.6. New Roles and Expectations of Workers
   - 4.7. Biotechnology
   - 4.8. Speed of Change - Moving from a Newtonian to a Quantum World of Chaos
5. Major Issues in Human Resource Development
   - 5.1. Sociological issues
   - 5.2. Political issues
   - 5.3. Economic & Financial Issues
   - 5.4. Cultural issues
6. Essential Strategies for Human Resource Development
   - 6.1. Assessing Needs
   - 6.2. Establishing Objectives
   - 6.3. Strategic Planning for HRD
   - 6.4. Human Resource Development Activities and Resources
   - 6.5. Action Learning - A Powerful New HRD Strategy
7. Role of Education and Knowledge Management in Human Resource Development
   - 7.1. Knowledge management and workforce learning
8. Impact of Technology on Human Development and Workplace Learning
   - 8.1. Knowledge economy and knowledge organization
   - 8.2. Digitization of communications and services in economy and organizations
   - 8.3. Virtualization of economy and organizations
   - 8.4. Mass to molecular forms
   - 8.5. Integration and internetworking
   - 8.6. Disintermediation
   - 8.7. Convergence of computing, communications and content
   - 8.8. Innovation-based economy and workplace
   - 8.9. Prosumption
   - 8.10. Immediacy
   - 8.11. Globalization
   - 8.12. Discordance
9. Human Life Systems, Diversity and Human Development
   - 9.1. Human Development and Equity
   - 9.2. Global Interdependence and Biosocial Systems
   - 9.3. Spirituality and Meaning of work
10. Human Development and Global Change
    - 10.1. Population growth and the environmental changes
    - 10.2. Human Development and Economic Growth
    - 10.3. Peace and Security
    - 10.4. Finance
11. Consequences of Global Change on Development of Human Resources
    - 11.1. Market change and global life support systems

11.2. Global Social Changes
11.3. Changes in Information Technology
11.4. Virtual work: Implications for Human and Organization Development
11.5. Global Change on Tourism and Human Resource Development
12. Global Leadership in the Development of Human Resources
13. Future - Enriching the Quality of Human Life

Major Issues in Human Resource Development 48
Jerry W. Gilley, Colorado State University, USA
Ann Maycunich Gilley, Colorado State University, USA

1. Introduction
2. The Seven Philosophical Foundations of HRD
   2.1. Historical Aspect of HRD
   2.2. Cultural Aspects of HRD
   2.3. Sociological Aspect of HRD
   2.4. Global Environment of HRD
   2.5. Political Issues in HRD
   2.6. Economic Foundation of HRD
   2.7. Financial Aspect of HRD
3. Implementation of HRD
   3.1. Philosophy of HRD
      3.1.1. Activity-Driven HRD Philosophy
      3.1.2. Results-Driven HRD Philosophy
   3.2. Principles of HRD
   3.3. Components of HRD
      3.3.1. Individual Development
      3.3.2. Career Development
      3.3.3. Performance Management
      3.3.4. Organizational Development
   3.4. Three Professional Practice Domains of HRD
      3.4.1. Organizational Learning
      3.4.2. Organizational Performance
      3.4.3. Organizational Change
   3.5. Roles in HRD
   3.6. HRD Practice
      3.6.1. Analysis
      3.6.2. Design
      3.6.3. Learning Acquisition
      3.6.4. Learning Transfer
      3.6.5. Evaluation
4. Conclusion

A History of Human Resource Development 76
Richard J. Torraco, University of Nebraska, USA

1. Introduction
2. In the Beginning: Survival through Labor and Learning
3. The Use of Tools and Mutual Cooperation
4. The Influence of the Greeks and Romans
   4.1. The Greek Disdain for Menial Work
   4.2. The Pragmatic View of the Romans
5. Education and Training in the Middle Ages
   5.1. The Influence of Monastic Schools
   5.2. St. Thomas Aquinas
   5.3. Merchant and Craft Guilds

6. Apprenticeship
7. Education and Training during the Renaissance
8. The History of Human Resource Development in Selected Countries
   8.1. The History of HRD in China
   8.2. The History of HRD in The Netherlands
   8.3. The History of HRD in Africa
      8.3.1. The Educational Legacy of the Colonial Period
      8.3.2. Africa's Struggle with Education and Economic Development
   8.4. Tanzania
   8.5. Nigeria
   8.6. Republic of South Africa
   8.7. The History of HRD in Colonial America
      8.7.1. Apprenticeship Training
      8.7.2. The Decline of Apprenticeship
      8.7.3. Education and Corporation Schools
      8.7.4. The Role of Government in Training
9. Twentieth Century Influences
   9.1. World War Influences
   9.2. The Labor Movement
   9.3. Development in HRD since the Second World War
10. HRD and Organizational Change
11. The Era of Computerization and Information Technology
12. Transformation of Contemporary Organizations
13. The Evolving Nature of Work

Sociological Issues in Human Resource Development 105
D. Christopher Kayes, Assistant Professor, Human and Organization Studies, George Washington DC

1. Introduction
2. Breakdown of Traditional Institutions
3. Emergence of Multiple Perspectives
4. Shift to an Information-Based Economy
5. Increased Rate of Change
6. Inadequacy of Traditional Models
7. Changing Workforce
   7.1. The Global Institution
      7.1.1. Efficiency
      7.1.2. Calculability
      7.1.3. Predictability
      7.1.4. Control through Technology
8. Impact on HRD Practice
   8.1. Meta-Learning
   8.2. On-the-Job-Learning
   8.3. Learning at all Levels of the Organization
   8.4. Team Learning
   8.5. Professional Learning
   8.6. Critical Thinking and Developmental Learning
   8.7. Diverse Learning
9. Unanswered Sociological Questions

Political Issues in Human Resource Development 117
Tim Hatcher, Department of Leadership and Human Resource Education, University of Louisville, Louisville, Kentucky, USA

1. Introduction
2. Conceptual Framework

3. Politics and Power in Organizations
   3.1. Political Ideologies
   3.2. Political Influence on Organizations and Human Resources: The Power and Influence of the Nation-State, Governments, and Polity
   3.3. Comparative International Politics: Issues of Influence and Dominance
4. Organizational Power: Power and Influence of International Organizations
   4.1. Power and Authority inside Organizations
5. Limitations to Organizational Sustainability: Problems and Pathologies for Politics and Power in Organizations and Human Resources
6. Shifting to Ecocentric Human Resource Development: A Sustainable Philosophy for Human Resources
7. Closing Thoughts

Global Environment for Human Resources Development 139
Somsri Siriwaiprapan,Chulalonghorn University, Thailand

1. Introduction
2. The Concept and Dimensions of human Resources Development
3. Global environment for human resources development
4. Emerging Global Market Economy
5. Information and Communications Technology (ICT)
6. Radical Transformation of World of Work
7. Emergence of the knowledge and Learning as a Companys and Countrys Greatest Assets
8. New Roles and Expectations of Workers
   8.1. Need for knowledge and higher-order cognitive skills 8.2. Growing importance of emotional intelligence
   8.3. Increase in temporary workers
   8.4. Telecommuting workers
   8.5. Increased Power and Demands of the Customer
   8.6. Biotechnology

Financial Aspects of Human Resource Development 158
Richard A. Swanson, Professor of Human Resource Development, University of Minnesota, USA

1. Introduction
2. Framework for Understanding Financial Aspects of HRD
3. Historical Framework
4. General Findings Related to HRD Financial Analysis Methods
5. Early HRD Financial Analysis Classics
6. From Financial Analysis of Methods (FAM) to Forecasting Financial Benefits (FFB)
7. Recent Financial Analysis Research in HRD
8. Financial Assessment of the HRD Function and Organization-wide Efforts
9. Conclusion

Economic Foundation of Human Resource Development 168
Oscar A. Aliaga,University of Minnesota, USA
Richard A. Swanson,Professor of Human Resource Development, University of Minnesota , USA

1. Introduction
2. Defining HRD and Theoretical Foundations
3. Economic Theory as Theoretical Foundation of HRD
4. The Theories of Human Capital and of the Firm and the Human Resource Development Discipline
5. Human Capital and the Individual: Training and HRD
6. Human capital: a form of capital
7. Education and human capital formation

8. Human capital and training
9. The Theory of the Firm: Training and HRD
10. General training
11. Firm-specific training
12. Human Capital and HRD: The Organization Development Strand
13. Education and training
14. Conclusion

Cultural Research in Human Resource Development 184
Carol D. Hansen,Associate Professor of HRD, Georgia State University, Atlanta, USA
Lori Fancher,HRD Consultant, Alpharetta, Georgia, USA

1. Introduction
2. Theoretical Framework
   2.1. The Role of Culture and HRD in Organizations
   2.2. The Role of Culture and HRD as a Profession
   2.3. Culture and the Role of HRD Internationally
3. Ways of Studying Culture
   3.1. Definitions and Stories
   3.2. A Composite Research Example
4. Implications for the Future
   4.1. Change Interventions
   4.2. HRDs Strategic Role.
   4.3. The Cross-cultural Transferability of HRD

Elements of Planning Strategies for Human Resource Development 199
Nancy O. Berger,Virginia Commonwealth University, USA

1. Introduction to Planning Strategies for HRD
   1.1. A Consideration of the Purpose and Role of HRD
   1.2. HRD's Role in a Global Context
2. Needs Assessment in HRD
   2.1. What Are Needs?
   2.2. Purpose and Levels of Needs Assessment
   2.3. Steps and Methodologies
   2.4. The Link to Evaluation
   2.5. Guidelines
3. Human Resource Development Objectives
   3.1. A Conceptual Framework for HRD Objectives
   3.2. Key Mission-Level HRD Objectives
4. Human Resource Development Activities
   4.1. Machine and Ecological Approaches
   4.2. Training for Individual Performance Improvement and Organizational Growth
5. Resource Requirements for HRD
   5.1. HRD Professionals
   5.2. HRD Structures
   5.3. HRD Styles and Culture
   5.4. HRD Systems
6. Human Resource Development Plans
   6.1. Strategic Planning
   6.2. Scenario Planning
   6.3. Formulating HRD Strategy and Action Plans
   6.4. Essential Elements of Planning
7. Essential Elements of Strategic Planning For HRD
   7.1. Main stages of HRD Planning
   7.2. Aspects of Strategic HRD Planning

7.3. Assessment of HRD Effectiveness

Needs Assessment in Human Resource Development 214
Nancy O. Berger,Virginia Commonwealth University, USA

1. Introduction
   1.1. Broad Definition
   1.2. Needs Assessment in an Instructional Context
2. Major Theorists and Authors
3. What Are "Needs"?
4. The Purpose of Needs Assessment
5. Levels of Assessment
6. Framing the Needs Assessment
7. Steps to Needs Assessment
8. Steps Specific to Training Needs Assessment
9. Data Collection Techniques for Needs Assessment
10. Prioritizing Needs
11. The Link to Evaluation
12. Guidelines for Needs Assessment
13. Future Issues

Human Resource Development Objectives 226
Reid A. Bates,School of Human Resource Education and Workforce Development, 142 Old Forestry, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, LA 70803, USA

1. Introduction
2. The importance of human resource development
3. The challenge of defining HRD objectives
   3.1. Human Resource Development.
   3.2. Performance
   3.3. Work system
   3.4. Learning
   3.5. Human potential
   3.6. Sustainable Development
4. A conceptual model of HRD objectives
5. The nature of HRD objectives
6. Change and maintenance objectives
7. Multiple levels of objectives
   7.1. Individual Level Objectives.
   7.2. Critical Performance Subsystem Level Objectives
   7.3. Process Level Objectives
   7.4. Mission Level Objectives
8. Summary

Human Resource Development Activities 240
Francesco Sofo,Educational Leadership and Professional Development Program, University of Canberra, Australia
Alastair Rylatt,Director, Australia

1. Introduction
   1.1. HRD identifies what is important in life and work
   1.2. HRD focuses on imaginative leadership
   1.3. HRD promotes constancy in valuing human beings
2. What are HRD activities?
3. Machine and ecological activities

4. HRD as training, development and education
5. Training for performance improvement
6. Training as HRD activity for organizational growth
   6.1. Design
   6.2. Delivery
   6.3. Post-course implementation
7. Designing HRD activities
8. Development as an HRD activity for individuals
9. The desired outcomes of HRD activities
10. Three dozen ways to polarize the conceptualization of HRD activities
11. Constructing HRD activities: an HRD activities development process
12. Conclusion – thoughts on future trends

Human Resource Development Plans 262
Francesco Sofo,Educational Leadership and Professional Development Program, University of Canberra, Australia

1. Introduction
2. Planning is an imperative
3. Planning as learning is the key skill for business success
4. Two planning strategies for HRD
   4.1. Strategic planning
      4.1.1. What are we achieving now?
      4.1.2. Where do we want to go? (Steps 3, 4, & 5)
      4.1.3. What is the best way to get there? (Steps 6, 7 & 8 above)
   4.2. Scenario planning
5. Planning, a strategy of action plans
   5.1. Brainstorm Practical Alternatives
   5.2. List Barriers to Achieving the Alternatives
   5.3. Develop and solicit proposals
   5.4. Identify the critical actions
   5.5. Design a detailed 6-12 monthly work plan
   5.6. Implement and evaluate work plans
6. Fluency in implementing work plans
7. Essential elements of planning as a science
   7.1. Planning Participation
   7.2. Planning Inquiry
8. Learning, another important element of HRD planning
   8.1. Key learning elements of business plans
9. The planning-learning cycle
   9.1. ERCI: the planning-learning cycle
10. Four planning loops
   10.1. Creating a future
11. Conclusion– thoughts on future trends and perspectives

Resource Requirements for Human Resources Development 285
T. V. Rao,Chairman, TVRLS and Chairman, Academic Council, Academy of HRD, India

1. Introduction
2. Resource requirements for HRD: Competencies
   2.1. Indicators of HRD at National Level:
   2.2. Indicators of HRD at Organizational Level:
3. HRD goals: Competencies
4. First Resource: HRD Professionals
   4.1. Professionalism in HR
5. Seven Challenges of Dave Ulrich for HR Professionals

5.1. HR Theory
5.2. HR Tools
5.3. HR Capabilities
5.4. HR value proposition
5.5. HR Governance
5.6. HR Careers
5.7. HR Competencies
6. HRD Competencies Checklist
6.1. HRD Professional Knowledge
6.2. HRD Professional Skills
6.3. Personal Attitudes and Values
7. HRD Structures
7.1. Dedicated Full Department
7.2. Corporate HRD with HRD Cells in Locations
7.3. Sleek department
7.4. HRD Task Force
7.5. CEO as HRD Manager
7.6. Other Structures
7.6.1. Ensure that the structure is need based 7.6.2. Ensure value addition of each of the HRD activities and subsystems
7.6.3. Ensure HRD competencies of the required nature, quality and magnitude to carry out the HRD activities and to monitor the HRD processes.
7.6.4. Ensure an appropriate placement of HRD Department:
7.6.5. Ensure that a person of the level or competence required for HRD in the organization heads the HRD Department
7.6.6. Define and clarify all the Roles in the department
8. HRD styles and culture
9. HRD systems
10. Performance Appraisal

Essential Elements of Strategic Planning for HRD 305
A.A.M. Wognum,University of Twente, Faculty of Educational Science and Technology, The Netherlands

1. Why Strategic Planning has become important in HRD
2. The Concept of Strategic Planning for HRD
2.1. Strategic Planning
2.2. Strategic Planning for HRD
3. Levels in strategic HRD Planning
4. Aspects of strategic HRD planning
5. An integrated method for strategic HRD planning
5.1. Strategic HRD Planning at Three Company Levels
5.2. An Integrated Strategic HRD Plan
6. HRD effectiveness
7. Conclusions

Index 317

About EOLSS 327

VOLUME II

Global Interdependence and Biosocial Systems 1
C.V. Croswell,Community-L, Inc., Berryville, Virginia, USA
T.A. Sablo,Human Resources Department, National Geographic Society, Washington, DC, USA

1. Understanding Our World
2. Global Interdependence
    2.1. General Systems Theory
        2.1.1. Living Systems Theory (LST)
        2.1.2. Autopoiesis in Human Systems
            2.1.2.1. Learning
            2.1.2.2. Communication
    2.2. The Case for How Human Systems Sustain Their Own Development
        2.2.1. Creating Global Leadership
3. Biosocial Systems
    3.1. Social Autopoiesis
    3.2. Paradoxical Nature of Biosocial (Autopoietic) Systems
    3.3. The Nature of Change and its Implications for Sustainability
4. Future Trends and Perspectives
    4.1. Self-organizing Systems
    4.2. World Peace and Sustainability
5. Conclusion

Ecological Diversity and Modern Human Adaptations 25
S. Stinson,Department of Anthropology, Queens College, City University of New York, USA

1. Introduction
2. Global Patterns of Human Variation
    2.1. Skin Color
    2.2. Body Size and Shape
3. Human Adaptation to Climatic Extremes
    3.1. Temperature
    3.2. High Altitude Hypoxia
4. Adaptation to the Cultural Environment
    4.1. Infectious Disease
    4.2. Diet
5. Limits to Human Adaptation

Diversity and Multiculturalism 44
Terry Carter,Executive Learning Strategies, USA

1. Introduction to the Concept of Diversity
2. Multiculturalism and Cultural Diversity
3. The History of Diversity Efforts in the United States
4. The Civil Rights Movement in the U.S.
5. Equal Rights for Women
6. Organization Development
7. Group Process and the Personal Growth Movement
8. Current Thinking on Diversity Management
9. The Language of Diversity
10. The Message of Diversity

Human Development and Equity 54
Wm. Gary Kline,Department of History and Political Science, Georgia Southwestern State University, USA

1. Introduction
2. The Distribution of Goods Within and Between Societies
   2.1. Wealth and Income
   2.2. Food, Health Care, Education, and Technology
   2.3. Political Participation and Rights
3. Gender, Equity, and Human Development

Spirituality in the Workplace 79
Jeri Darling,Principal Mercer Delta Consulting, LLC, New York, USA
Neal Chalofsky,Associate Professor, George Washington University, Washington, D.C, USA

1. Introduction
   1.1. Background
   1.2. Defining Values and Distinctions
   1.3. What is happening in Practice
2. Spirituality & Leadership
3. Spirituality in the Organization: Frameworks to Consider
   3.1. Work as Vocation
4. Concerns about Spirituality in the Workplace
5. Future of Spirituality in the Workplace

Human Development and Causes of Global Change 95
Peter Loan,Brown and Loan Associates, USA

1. Introduction
2. Population Growth
3. Economic Growth and Changes
4. Technological Growth and Change
5. Ecological and Environmental Changes
6. Peace and Security
7. The Tasks for Human Resource Development

World Population Growth and the Environment 114
Thomas K. LeGrand,Department of Demography/CIED, University of Montreal, Canada

1. Introduction
2. Ethical and conceptual issues
3. Our uncertain knowledge of the environment
4. The Impact of population growth on the environment
5. What are the implications for population policy?
6. Political and administrative difficulties in developing a global environmental policy
   6.1. Sovereignty and the Administration of Environmental Protection Activities
   6.2. North-South Equity Issues
   6.3. The Role of Uncertainty
7. Conclusion

Human Resources and Economic Growth 134
John P. Powelson,University of Colorado, USA

1. Institutions and Trust in Early Societies
2. Institutional Development

2.1. Transaction costs
2.2. Theory of Douglass North
2.3. Theory of John Powelson
3. Democracy and Human Development
3.1. Education
3.2. The Enlightenment in China
3.3. The Enlightenment in Europe
3.4. Institution formation in Japan
4. Economic Growth and Human Development in Nineteenth-Century Europe
4.1. Free government schools
5. The Twentieth Century
5.1. Technology
5.2. Alternatives to government schools
5.3. The free university
6. Political Systems and Human Development
6.1. History of Corruption in Europe
6.2. Corruption in Less Developed Countries
7. The Twenty-First Century
7.1. Health Care
7.2. Social Security
7.3. Welfare for destitute persons
8. The Moral Economy

Web-Based Training 152
Badrul H. Khan,Educational Technology Leadership (ETL) at the George Washington University and the ETL Program Director at the Alexandria Graduate Education Center, USA.

1. Introduction
2. Web-Based Learning Environment
3. Web-Based Training Components and Features
3.1. WBT Components
3.2. WBT Features
3.3. WBT Features and Components Associated with Web-Based Learning environments
4. Conclusion

Human Resource Development and Environmental Changes 186
N. Nissley,Assistant Professor, University of St. Thomas, Minnesota, USA

1. Introduction: Human Resource Development and Environmental Change
2. Global Environmental Change: The Response of Human Systems
2.1. Transnational Environmental Education Institutions
2.2. Adult Environmental Education
2.3. The Environment Industry and Environmental Management
3. The Intertwining of Human Resource Development and Environmental Management: Education for Environmental Sustainability and Business Profitability
3.1. Human Resource Planning: Determining Human Resource Needs for the Future
3.2. Career Development: Jobs and the Environment
3.3. Organizational Development: Facilitating Organizational Effectiveness
3.4. Management Development: Developing Environmental Managers
3.5. Training
3.6. Organizational Environmental Learning
3.7. Non-Employee Development
3.7.1. Ecolabeling
3.7.2. Environmental Justice
3.7.3. The World Wide Web: Linking Human Resource Development and Environmental Management
4. Future Trends: A Strategic Partnership between HRD and Environmental Management

Peace and Security 201
Larissa A. Fast,Institute for Conflict Analysis and Resolution, Conrad Grebel University College, University of Waterloo, Canada

1. Introduction
2. Peace
3. Security
   3.1. State-Focused Conceptions of Security
   3.2. Interactive or Human-Focused Conceptions of Security
   3.3. Domestic Peace and Security
4. International Development Assistance and Conflict
5. Peacebuilding

Finance and Human Development 214
J.D. Von Pischke,Frontier Finance International, Inc., Washington, D.C., USA

1. Introduction
2. How Finance Works: Value, Risk and Confidence
   2.1. Confidence and Financial Markets
   2.2. The Social Basis of Finance
   2.3. Attitudes: the Power of Credit or the Scourge of Debt?
3. Finance and Economic Growth
   3.1. Evolving Views of Finance
   3.2. Functions of Finance
   3.3. Finance among the Working Poor
   3.4. Contract as a Social Good
4. Structural Adjustment, Financial Reform and Human Development
   4.1. "What Finance is Supposed to do"
   4.2. Expanding the Frontier of Finance through Innovation
   4.3. The Context for Innovation in Finance
   4.4. Income Poverty, Capability Poverty and Finance
5. Vulnerability in Financial Systems
   5.1. The Case of Government Debt
   5.2. Instrumentalist Use of Finance
6. Concluding Remarks

Consequences of Global Change for Human Resource Development 238
Francesco Sofo,School of Professional and Community Education, University of Canberra, Australia

1. Introduction
2. What constitutes ‘global change’?
3. Different views of ‘global change’
   3.1. Global change is an economic activity
   3.2. Critics of global change as an economic concept
   3.3. Global change as technological / communication activity
4. Global change - opportunity or threat?
5. Other global trends
   5.1. Knowledge Workers
   5.2. Telecommuters
   5.3. Contingency Workers
   5.4. Self-led global teams
6. What is Human Resource Development?
7. Impact of global change on Human Resource Development
8. Broader consequences of global change
9. Information technology revolution
   9.1. Moore’s law and Metcalfe’s law
   9.2. World Wide Web (WWW)

9.3. Jet travel, mobiles, digital television and a near workless world
10. Review of the chapters in this topic
11. Conclusion and review of the theme

Consequences of Market Change for Human Development and Global Life Support Systems 275
Wayne Nelles,Senior Associate, Sustainable Development Research Institute, University of British Columbia, Canada

1. Introduction
2. Conceptual Issues and Challenges
3. Global Markets, Rise of the West, Imperialism and Industrialization
4. International Organizations, Market Change, Cold War and Decolonization
5. Globalization, Market Triumphs and Life Support System Perils
6. Consequences of Economic Globalization for Ecology and Human Development
7. Taming the Market? Sustainable Human Development Alternatives
8. Conclusion

The Consequences of Global Social Change for Human Development 297
James H. Williams,Assistant Professor of International Education & International Affairs; Director, International Education Program, The George Washington University, USA

1. Introduction
2. The Nature of Global Social Changes
   2.1. Advances in Science and Technology
   2.2. Demographic Transitions
   2.3. Improvements in Health and Survival
   2.4. The Rise and Spread of Mass Formal Education
   2.5. Increasing Self-Governance
   2.6. The Idea of Human Rights
   2.7. Increasing Globalization of the Economy
3. Consequences for Human Development
   3.1. More Efficient Means of Mass (Self-)Destruction
   3.2. (Together with) Increased Chances of Survival and Well-Being 3.3. Increasing Threats to Traditional Cultures, Hierarchies, and Relationships
   3.4. (Together with) Greater Diffusion of the Highest Social Ideals
   3.5. Increased Vulnerability of the Poor and Powerless
   3.6. (Together with) Greater Opportunities for the Entrepreneurial 3.7. Greater Control by the Nation-State
   3.8. (Together with) Weakening of the Monopoly of the State
   3.9. Greater Social and Civic Participation on the Part of Women
   3.10. (Together with) Increased Return to Traditional Cultural Practices
   3.11. Increasing Gap between Rich and Poor
   3.12. Potential for Increased Cooperation and Conflict among Nations
4. Conclusion

Information System Response Model : An Extension of the Tam Model 310
D. Ozag,Department of Management, Gettysburg College, USA
J. Jurkiewicz,Graduate School of Education and Human Resource Development, George Washington University, USA

1. Introduction
2. Technology Acceptance Model(TAM)
3. EVLN
4. Information System End-Ser Responses
   4.1. The Adopt Response

4.2. The Accommodate Response
4.3. The Antagonistic Response
4.4. The Accede Response
5. Implications For Practice
6. Directions For Future Research

Virtual Work: Implications for Human and Organization Development 323
Andrea Hornett,Department of Business, Penn State University, Delaware County, USA

1. Introduction: The Nature of Virtual Work
   1.1. Technology Creates Virtual Work
   1.2. Virtual Environments and Teams
   1.3. Organizational Impact of Virtual Processes
2. Organizational Research and Virtual Teams: A Western View
   2.1. Teamwork Increasing
   2.2. Structure and Hierarchy
   2.3. Concepts of Teams and Virtual Teams
      2.3.1. Agency and the Group
      2.3.2. The Human Natures of Teams
      2.3.3. Power and Teams
3. Types of Virtual Organizations
4. Executive Leadership and Virtual Teams
5. Conclusion

Human Resource Policy in Sustainable Development:Global Trends in Human Health 334
He Feng-sheng, Chinese Academy of Preventive Medicine, Beijing, P.R. China
Wang Ke-an,Chinese Academy of Preventive Medicine, Beijing, P.R. China

1. Introduction
2. Prevention and Control of Communicable Diseases
3. Prevention and Control of Non-communicable Chronic Diseases
4. Prevention and Control of Environment and Work-related Ill-health
5. Health policy and Health Services
6. Perspectives

Human Security:Perspectives for Human Resources and Policy Management 345
Jorge Nef,International Development and Rural Extension, University of Guelph, Canada; School of Government, Public Administration and Political Science, University of Chile, Chile

1. Introduction
   1.1. The Changing Foundations of the World Order
      1.1.1. Long Range Technological Changes
      1.1.2. Changes in the Ideological Matrix
      1.1.3. Changes in the Economic Basis
   1.2. Security in the New Era
2. A Framework for Analysis\
   2.1. A Global Perspective
      2.1.1. Core, Centers, and Peripheries
      2.1.2. Regimes
      2.1.3. Power and Governance
      2.1.4. Power and Metapower
   2.2. The Elements of the System
   2.3. The World System: a Complex Conglomerate
      2.3.1. The End of an Era
   2.4. The Concept of Human Security

2.4.1. Dimensions of Human Security
2.4.2. Democracy and Security
2.4.3. Threats to Human Security
3. Environmental Insecurity
3.1. Reciprocating Dysfunctions
3.1.1. The Death of Forests
3.1.2. The Thinning of the Ozone Layer
3.1.3. Air Pollution and Acid Rain
3.1.4. Freshwater Contamination and Depletion
3.1.5. Land Degradation
3.1.6. Food Insecurity
3.1.7. Damage to the Oceans
3.1.8. Epidemics
3.1.9. Threats to the Genetic Pool
3.1.10. The Dangers of the "Green Revolution"
3.1.11. Hazardous Waste
3.2. The Global Environmental Regime
3.2.1. Context
3.2.2. Culture
3.2.3. Structure
3.2.4. Processes
3.2.5. Effects

Index 377

About EOLSS 387